

About Thomastik-Infeld's new VISION SOLO for VIOLIN

Vision Solo for Violin features a technically advanced formulation and architecture designed to produce a blend of exceptional playing and performance characteristics. Based upon feedback by a variety of top level players, here is how the performance of Vision Solo can be described:

Sound Characteristics

- Brilliant, round yet well-defined "soloistic" tone.
- Focus and clarity, especially on the D and G, without sacrificing warmth or projection.
- Absence of commonly present under-ear hiss.
- Energetic, intense projection.
- Capable of a wide range of artistic expression and nuance.

Playing Characteristics

- Extremely short settle-in time for both pitch and tonality.
- Excellent with double-stops and octave cross-overs.
- Little or no harsh or steely tone during break-in.
- Effortless, satisfying left hand feeling.
- Extremely quick and easy bow response.
- Tremendously even string-to-string play and performance.

What they're saying about...

new Vision Solo for Violin

"The Vision Solo strings create a sound which is rich in overtones while retaining purity and focus. They have power to spare and allow a musician to relax and play with great freedom."

John Montgomery – Raleigh, NC Luthier, member of the American Federation of Violin and Bow Makers and the Violin Society of America

"WOW! These strings are amazing. The first string I've been ever excited about. I really think these are going to overtake the market the same way Dominant did way back when, I think they are the biggest string break through in a LONG time, if not ever. Needless to say, I'm impressed. Everyone I've shown them to wants a set."

Charles Li – Rochester, MN Luthier, Violin Instructor, and Shop Owner

"The E string is excellent in combination with the set. Well balanced excellent for double stops and octave crossovers."

Robert Clemens – Clayton, MO Luthier, Violin Maker, and Shop Owner

"I didn't think it was possible for my violin to resonate with such amazing overtones until I tried the new Vision Solo strings."
